Bundjil Feather Colouring In Activity

To the Wadawurrung, the Wedge-tailed Eagle or Bundjil is an important animal. In Wadawurrung Traditional Owner Aboriginal Corporations Paleert Tjaara Dja 'Let's make Country good together 2020-2030, they state that the "Great spirit Bundjil told [the Wadawurrung] to take care of the great life within the land. To only take what [they] need without selfishness - Stephanie Skinner

This activity allows you to explore the cultural significance of Bundjil, the Wedge-tailed Eagle. To complete this activity, follow the steps below:

- Print the following page on card or thick paper
- Decorate these feathers using pencils/pens/paint/crayons or collage
- Write your name or what this activity means to you on the back
- Cut out each feather and glue or attach them to either a larger artwork (e.g., a mural, wood display) or to a wall at school, home, etc.

Art by proud Wadawurrung man BJ O'Toole

