Growling Grass Frog

Species Name: Litoria raniformis

Wadawurrung Name: Djivvm

Fun Fact: Growling Grass Frogs get their name from their growl-like call that they do over summer.

Threatened Status
Vulnerable

Rakali
Native Water Rat

Species Name: Hydromys chrysogaster

Wadawurrung Name: Warrarrm (rat)

Fun Fact: Rakali are excellent swimmers with their streamlined body, thick, muscular tail used as a rudder and partly webbed feet.

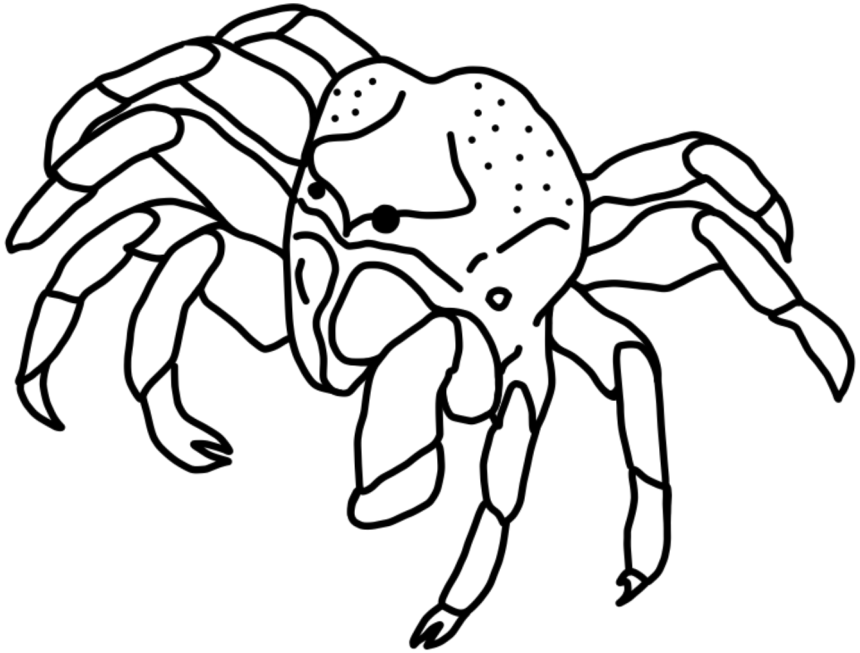

Soldier Crab

Species Name: Mictyris platycheles

Wadawurrung Name: Wordel (crab)

Fun Fact: Soldier Crabs are found on mudflats. To eat, they pick up balls of sand and put them in their mouth to filter out their food (detritus particles). This leaves the curious looking balls of sand out on the mudflats.

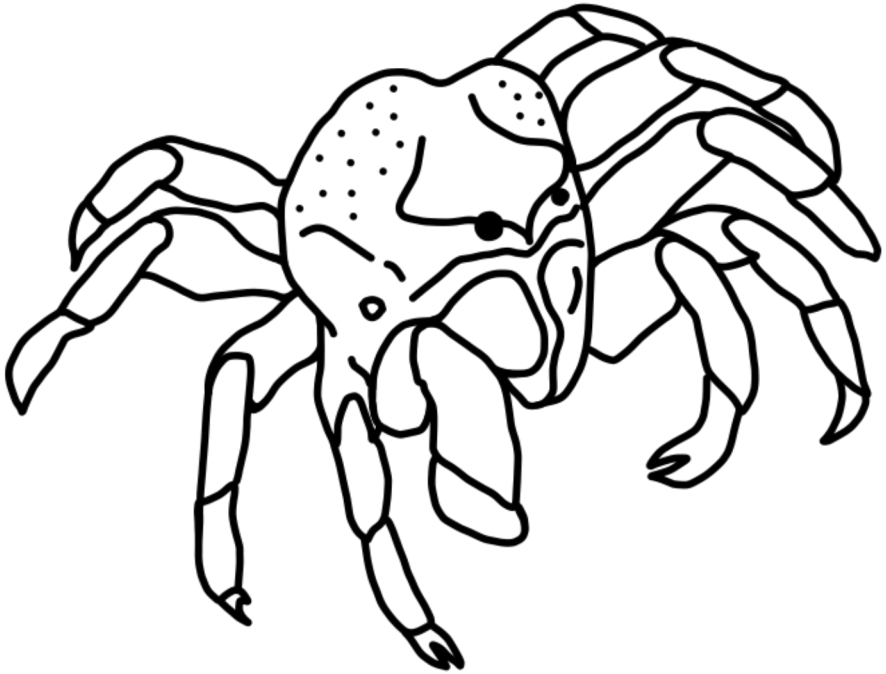

Image by Bernie Lingham at Barwon Heads

Eastern Long-necked Turtle

Species Name: Chelodina longicollis

Wadawurrung Name: Barribin

Fun Fact: This turtle is named after its long neck, which is usually about half the length of its carapace (shell). It has webbed feet used for swimming and digging and when it feels threatened, they can eject a stinky liquid from their 'armpits' and groin.

The plants featured here are Cumbungee and Common Reed, often found near fresh water and an important plant for Eastern Long-necked Turtle habitat.

